

ABSTRACT

According to one embodiment, a system is disclosed. The system includes a server computer, a transmission medium coupled to the server computer and a client computer coupled to the transmission medium. The client computer

5 includes a security component that has exclusive access to a log stored at the client computer.

09/23/2016 10:24:01